

We are an independent production company based in Turin; our name comes from that of a strong north wind, called 'Bora', which blows in different directions in an irregular manner. Similarly to this wind's features, our passion for cinema comes from different coordinates and influences, but it is combined in the same interest for the seventh art.

The aims of Labora Film are to create independent projects, to promote collaborations with associations, individuals and other entities, ranging from commercial products to authorial works. Furthermore, the small production company intends to be a place for university traineeships and a support channel for external authors, encouraging to develop audiovisual projects through the exchange of contacts and tips.

"But if our view be arrested there, let our imagination pass beyond."
